We're Back in School

Smiling faces unloaded from 12 buses on August 25th. As students entered the building, they all stopped to get their picture taken by the balloons and CWES welcome sign. We're all looking forward to a great school year.

Want over $500 in Great Coupons?

The KIDSTUFF fundraiser went home Friday, September 9th. The coupon book includes shopping, services, activities, food, and restaurant coupons that kids and adults will enjoy! The coupon saving book costs $25 the PTO will earn at least 50% profit to be used to support school activities such as the Father Daughter Dance and Mom and Son's bingo. Order forms and sample books are due back on Friday, September 30th. If your family sells 5 books you can keep the sample book at no cost!

From the Principal's Desk

Students have been engaged and very active in their learning. Mrs. Pratt and I have walked around to observe students creating hopes and dreams for the school year, writing about "small moments" in their journals, playing math games that reinforce their number sense, independently reading during Daily 5, and much more. Check out our website for up-to-date pictures.

Supporting our Community

When the CWES students heard that Mr. Wilson, an honored guest at our annual Veterans Day Tribute, was sick they immediately wrote him cards, drew pictures of flags, and sent messages of hope and healing to him. Cheryl Corey, a family relative of Mr. Wilson said the cards lifted his spirits and brought a smile to his face.

How can I communicate with my child using math language? By Amanda Dionne, Math Coordinator

Recently, the importance of students communicating mathematically has grown exponentially. In an effort to support the increased rigor in math classes, students are expected to be involved in reading, writing about, listening to, representing, viewing, and discussing mathematical ideas. ...
